

All aspects of the project should be working properly except for the the “ant test” command. I have correctly written the JUnit tests and they are included in the submitted file, but when I run the command “ant test,” I get a ClassNotFoundException.